

Please do not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. Indiana law makers have done an excellent job in implementing this protection that has improved the lives of many Hoosier. Strangers should not be entitled to call my home and invade my personal time with my family whether I have done business with their company in the past or not. Anything you do to weaken the current legislation will provide a loop hole for all marketers to use to call bother thousands of Hoosiers during their dinners with their families. Prior the the passage of Indiana's current law, my family would not answer the phone because 9 times out of 10 it would be a telemarketer. Now, when the phone rings, guess what, its someone that we actually know, that wants to talk to someone in my family. Not someone that is simply interrupting my dinner or my kids homework session only to quickly find out that I do not want to talk to them. Please do not pass any legislation that will weaken existing Indiana law.
